Some one passed the store and saw a light in the rear, inside. It was only a few minutes later that the telephone operator and scores of the citizens were alarmed by an explosion. Then it was discovered that the dry goods store was a mass of flames.

The volunteer fire department was called out and did fine work in confining the fire to one block. J. F. Casebier's hardware store, located on the corner, over which is the telephone exchange, was saved from total destruction by the volunteer

There are a number of people who do not believe that burglars started the fire. Mr. Gentry had recently installed a gas lighting plant in his store and it is suggested that it was the cause of the fire and that the explosion resulted when the fire reached the gas tank.

The cause of the conflagration is still a mystery, and the local authorities have called on the State JOHN F. BIBLE OWNS A Fire Marshall to make an investi-

DAMAGE FROM ARMY WORM $8,000,000 IN A MONTH

Washington, Aug. 10 .- More than $8,000,000 damage was done to crops in the South last month by the army worms, according to unofficial estimates of the Department of Agriculture.

Whether the season's second brood of the insects, already appearing in South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and other States, will increase this loss, is of much concern to Government experts. All the means at the department's disposal are being used to meet the

GREAT IDEAS OF A GREAT MAN

Seagirt, N. J., Aug 7 .- Impressive austerity marked the delivery of the speech of Gov. Wilson this afternoon accepting the Democratic nomination for President. The executive unfolded a fabric of political beliefs and invoked a rule "of right and justice" in politics.

A motley throng gathered at the summer capital, including the notiacation committee, Democratic governors, college professors, summer folk and marching clubs. Attentive seriousness was the attitude of the audience. The applause was frequent. The Governor was ill at ease because of the reading of the address instead of speaking extemporaneously, as he is accustomed.

At the time the pressmen struck on the Chicago papers they were getting wages ranging from $25 to $45 per week, and there has been no attempt to reduce that scale.

But to the clergyman a minimum salary of $1,000 per year seems almost too good to ever be true. It is not so long ago that a responsible church authority declared the average salary of the clergymen of Wisconsin was only $700 per year.

New Offshoot of Republican Party Starts Out With Much Ado.

NEW YORK NEGRO TO FRONT

Chicago, Aug. 7 .- Singing "Onward. Christian Soldiers" and the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic," the delegates to the first National Convention of the new Progressive party to-night acclaimed Col. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, as its candidate for President and Gov. Hiram W. Johnson, of California, as its choice for Vice President.

Marking a new departure in the proceedings of national conventions the two candidates immediately were informally notified of their nomination, and in the midst of deafening cheers, appeared before the delegates to voice their acceptance and to pldge their best efforts to the coming campaign.

For several long hours during the afternoon and early evening the big throng in the Coliseum had listened to a flow of oratory in nominating and seconding speeches in which the dominant note expressed was the belief that victory would come to the new party in the November elections. Raymond Robbins, of Illinois, pledged a 100,000 majority for the National ticket in Illinois, and Gifford Pinchot predicted a 300,000 majority for Col. Roosevelt and Gov. Johnson in his home State of Pennsylvania. These echo.

The party formally christened itself. "The Progressive party," leaving out the prefix "National," by which it has heretofore been the recognition of "real" Progressives in any of the States by what-

The convention adjourned at 7:24 p. m., with the delegates singing the "doxology" in lusty voice. During the three days it was in session there was not a single roll-call nor a ballot taken. The point was not material, but, as one delegate expressed it, "we just had to fight about something to make it a regular convention."

> There was a sharp discussion, however, in several of the committee meetings, and no little difficulty in agreeing upon the platform as finally adopted. Col. Roosevelt worked with the subcommittee in charge of the platform until late this afternoon, going over their work of the two previous days and nights and vigorously helping to mold the draft which at last proved acceptable to him. The platform did not take up the negro question.

HOW THE GREAT TRUSTS FATTEN

AND DESPITE SHERMAN LAW

It Is False to Say They Lower 1904......153 Prices, Says Editor of Moody's Magazine.

TARIFF THE CAUSE OF IT ALL

Notwithstanding the so-called their total capitalization is more tion. than $8,000,000,000, so it is announced by John Moody, editor of moody's Magazine, a financial FOR $500,000 THE SUGAR monthly.

"Moreover," adds he, "this astonishing aggregate does not include industrial concerns which ands of manufacturing concerns enjoying the benefits of the tariff which cannot be included, strictly speaking, in any list of trusts. The Government's Federal Corporation Tax report for 1911 shows that the dustrial' are not trusts in the ordinary understanding of the term."

Mr. Moody says the evidence is idea that trusts lower prices.

"Industrial combinations, in the great majority of cases," he goes on, "have been found primarily for the purpose of controlling or advancing prices to the consumer. While the theory has been persistently urged for many years that the main purpose of combination was to reduce producing and operating costs, and thus increase profits without the advancement of prices, the records shown during the entire trust era go to prove that such has not been the case. The great enlargement in profits has for the most part been accomplished by price advances and not by cost curtailment."

Mr. Moody's idea is that a protective tariff, particularly the Dingley tariff, and not any natural or evolutionary tendency toward business centralization, is to blame for the growth of the trusts.

"At the end of 1902," he says, "there was a widely held theory that the trend toward industrial proved the unsoundness of this funded to the Havemeyers. idea. For steadily, throughout evcrease. By the end of 1905, the year in which Theodore Roosevelt began his second administration, the figure had risen to $6,843,891,-760, and in the year when Mr. Taft entered the White House, a further expansion to $7,560,004,000 was shown. And now, with Mr. Taft closing his term, we note that, notwithstanding the so-called trust prosecutions and the enforcement of the Sherman law, the total industrial trust capitalization has reached the astounding total of $8,-066,290,861.

"It will be noted that the growth of trusts during Mr. Taft's administration has practically all been accomplished since the enactment of the present Payne Tariff law.

"It is a noteworthy fact that the capital represented by industrial trusts in this county does not reflect, except to partial extent, the investment of money or property. While no exact figures on the subject are obtainable, it is reliably estimated that not more than 25 per cent. of the eight billions of capitalization represents original investment. The remaining 75 per cent. is what is commonly called 'water,' but which is more definitely described as the 'capitalization of earning power.' For industrial trusts, like franchise trusts, railroad trusts, &c., have all adopted Training School, for boys, Elkton, the method during the past generation of capitalizing not only the versity, Bowling Green, Kentucky; original and current investment in Draughon's Business College, Nashthe plants and property, but also ville, Tenn., or any branch school,

TEDDY'S COMPLIMENT TO GOVERNOR WILSON

Mr. Roosevelt, in the Outlook, pays a deserved compliment to Governor Wilson when he quotes with approval the following sentiment expressed by the Democratic candidate:

"No one pretends to find a reason for not voting for Mr. Wilson in the character or in the ideals of Mr. Wilson himself. It is plain that he approaches public questions from the point of view of the public interest. What he said the other day in a speech at Atlantic City is a genuine expression of his spirit. He was speaking of an issue raised in that place by lawlessness and corruption, of the need of moral pride, and of the willingness to fight evil at all costs. 'There can be,' said Mr. Wilson, 'so long as we are honest men, no quarter with any man who deals privately or publicly in a m who lays himself, his life, down for that purpose, ought to die more happy than he lived. Life is a little thing. Life lasts only a little while, and if it goes out lighted with the torch of glory, it is better than if it had lasted upon a dull level a thousand years. * * That is the test of manhood, it is the test of humanity, and it is the glory and sign of Christianity, that a man will lay down his life for another, no matter what the consequences may be to himself, either in this world or in the next.'

"These words, especially as they come from a man just chosen to receive the highest gift in the hands of his party, present a view of public service that should actuate all men in public life. They are a pledge of his own purpose.

"So far as the country at large knows it, Mr. Wilson's record since he entered public life two years ago From the top of the lantern has not been inconsistent with his lofty purpose or his high character. While in office he has been not onthe Stars and Stripes will be flung ly the chief executive of his State, but also the leader of his party in that State."

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

TAKE The Woman's Tonic

We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women.

Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.

The negro voter is getting to be more and more a disturbing element in the Republican party. The Moosers tried to shake him at their convention in Chicago last week, but finally decided to ignore him and say nothing. The regular Republican organization detests the personality of the darkey but craves his vote. The negro is becoming wiser every day as to his exact standing in political circles.

practically disappeared from the 4th. market. There is a reason. This reason consists of a "joker" in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, under what is known as "Dutch Standard No. 16"

When this test was fixed it meant the barring out of the old-fashioned brown sugar, cheap and good, and that is why this brand of sugar has disappeared from the market. Whenever a tariff bill is in the making, the agents of the Sugar Trust are on the ground to see that the "Dutch Standard" is maintained. They had no difficulty in getting the makers of the Payne-Aldrich tariff

THE DISCOVERY OF OIL

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 9 .- As result of the oil boom in Wabash county, Ill., across the Wabash river from here, a suit has been raised over the ownership of a farm which involves a fortune. It is 100 acres in the very heart of the oil field, where almost fabulous prices are now being paid for leases or on purchases outright. Some time ago George McFarland sold the farm to six years. Jacob Smith, who was to pay $7,-000 for it in payments of $1,000 a year and the interest. Smith made 6 to 300 acres. We can please you the first payment, but this year was if you want to buy land. unable to meet it. He paid the interest, however, and McFarland agreed to an extension of time on the other, having in meantime given Smith a bond for a deed to the farm. A week ago came the oil strike on the farm adjoining this land. Leasers learned how matters one of the innovations of the day A Short and Accurate Life Sketch stood, and telling McFarland the land was his, they paid him large lease money and sought possession. Smith resisted, and the case will be fought out in the courts. The farm is at present valued by oil men at $25,000 to $40,000, it is said."

Killed Her Son-in-Law, Ambie Buck-Is Now in Helpless Condition.

The Owensboro Messenger says: Mrs. Loutilda Lynch, who has been in the penitentiary for the past year, during which time she has been serving time on an indeterminate sentence of from two to twenty-one years for the killing of her son-in-law, Ambie Buck, has been granted a parole and is again in Owensboro. The woman is paralyzed, and for that reason the prison commission has allowed her to be removed to the home of her husband in Daviess county.

It will be remembered that the woman walked a considerable distance to the home of her son-in-law. carrying a shotgun, at the muzzle of which she forced her husband and two other male kinsmen to accompany her and that at the home of Buck, when he came to the door, she fired the contents of the gun into his body.

In the trial, which was held at ter the woman had been connned in the jail for a long period, it was developed that she had a number of peculiarities, if indeed she was not insane at times, and the defense was made out largely on the idea that at the time of the shooting she was mentally irresponsible for her

The jury that heard the case, however, determined that she knew what she was doing at the time she fired the shot, and a verdict of guilty was returned, the court finally sentencing her. Since being in the penitentiary, she has been ill a large part of the time, and her condition has become worse, till Aug. 12.-Rev. S. J. Thompson the commission took action and allowed her to return to her home.

TALK ABOUT COMBINING IN THE BLACK PATCH

Independents and Planter's Protective Association Talk of Coalition.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 9.-Throughout the famous Black Patch, which includes all the counties in this region of Kentucky and Tennessee where the dark types of tobacco are grown, there is the keenest interest in conditions which affect both the Planters' Protective Association and independent tobacco buyers, and a coalition of these important factors in the trade may be brought about.

Association officials are out in statements that unless a majority of the growers show a sufficient interest in its welfare to sign pledges the corporation will probably be to the high prices of the loose floors, not more than one-third of ago there were 65,000 hogsheads in Independent dealers in the region are holding about 7,000 hogsheads for which they paid high prices, and the recent slump in values is causing them great uneasiness. They have lately held a number of conferences with the association managers, who still have about 6,000 hogsheads of the old crop on hand, with a view to pooling their holdings, but the combination has not yet been effected. It is said to be Mainly their hope of realizing prof-Patch that the crop in the field is hogsheads in Hopkinsville wareducah.

BRAINY PAUPERS.

Brilliant Inventors Who Reaped Pitiful Rewards.

DIED IN POVERTY AND WANT.

Some Men of Genius Who Were Doomed to End Their Days In Obscurity, While Their Fruitful Ideas Made Millions and Fame For Others.

Now and again a man is born whose brain fairly bubbles with inventive New ideas stream from him. and all branches of science are mas tered with hardly an effort.

Such was Frederic William Martino. one of those many brilliant Italians who left their native land to seek fortune in a foreign country.

Martino came to England, and his name is most familiar from the Martini-Henry rifle, the breechblock of which was one of his numerous inventions.

It is an irony of fate that Martino's name should go down to posterity solely through a warlike invention which he himself thought little of when s greatest work was done in the cause of peace, for Martino was the discoverer of the process for converting basic slag into manure, a dis-y which has put millions into the pockets of German manufacturers. but from which he himself, it is stated, never reaped a penny. The fluted rib for umbrellas, a new process for the extraction of nickel from its ore, a new development of platinoid - immensely important in electric work-and a brilliant invention for the reduction of gold ore. these are only a few of Martino's dis coveries. And yet he was so lacking in business capacity that in spite of his extraordinary output of valuable ideas he died at Glasgow in 1903 a comparatively poor and obscure man. while dozens of others have been made richer by his genius.

In 1860 the chemist Lenoir patented a motor driven by an explosive mix ture of air and gas. He used electric ignition obtained from a battery and a Ruhmkorff coil, actuating a sparking plug very similar to that in use in the modern motor. The system of valves by means of which the suction of the piston drew in the charge of gas for the next explosion was also designed

In 1862 he actually produced a car which, if crude, was similar in all respects to that in use today, save that he employed coal gas instead of petrol and this he actually drove himself through the streets of Paris.

Yet for reasons similar to those which caused the failure of Martino he never received the reward of his genius, and it was left for Daimler, nearly thirty years later, to produce the first of the practicable autocars.

Lenoir died in 1900, poor and unknown.

Three years later, in 1903, the life of George Shergold came to an end in Gloucester workhouse. Shergold, originally a shoemaker, was the inventor of the safety bicycle. He built a machine of this order in the year 1876. the front wheel of which was twentyseven inches and the rear wheel some hirty-one inches in diameter

In 1900, when it first became generally known that the man whose invention had made millions for others was as poor as when he had cobbled shoes, a public subscription was raised, and for some time an allowance of 5 shillings a week was made to Shergold. But the funds became exhausted, and poor Shergold ended his life in the workhouse.

How many people have ever even heard of Scheele? Yet this poor Swedsh chemist was perhaps the greatest discoverer of facts that the world has ever known.

We always hear in England that Priestley was the discoverer of oxygen. Yet Scheele made this most important of all chemical discoveries simultaneously with Priestley. And it was Scheele who discovered chlorine gas. Chlorine is perhaps the most important of all gases in commercial chemistry. It is the great 'bleacher that gives us white linen or white straw hats. It is also the best disinfectant known. It is essential to the manufacture of the great pain killer, chloroform, and it is used extensively for the extraction of gold from its ores.

Chlorine's value to the world has been incalculable, yet Scheele, the man who discovered it, lived hungry and died a pauper.

Professor Gore died a comparatively poor man, yet Gore was the inventor of the modern safety match, of the method of electrodeposition commonly known as electroplating and of many other processes which have put millions into the pockets of manufacturers. Gore's book, "Electrometallurgy," published in 1870, is still a standard work on the subject .- London Answers.

Value of Cinders.

A few years ago great heaps of cinders piled up, often being dumped into low places where new earth was needed. Manufacturing concerns were glad to get rid of the accumulations. But now the cinders are in great demand for use in the foundation for cement and concrete work. They formen perfect drainage material, and it has been found that frost acts very lightly on them. Furthermore, concrete work in which cinders are used is said to be of extreme durability. When cinders are ground and mixed with cement the mass becomes very hard.

The road to success is as easy as the foad to ruin.—Benjamin Franklin.

THEIR LAST HANDCLASP.

The Final Meeting of Charles A. Dana and Jacob Riis.

I like to think of my last meeting with Charles A. Dana, the "old chief," as he was always called in the office. In all the years I was on the Sun I do not think I had spoken with him a half dozen times. When he wanted anything of me personally his orders were very brief and to the point. . It was generally something-a report to be digested or the story of some social his heart he was faithful to his early love. He had been in his youth, as community. But if he thought I saw of the truth when I came upon him it the turn of the stairs, stumbling knew him when he passed, but as he turned and held out his hand I saw that it was Mr. Dana, looking someand changed. I took off my hat, and we shook hands.

It was the only time he had ever held out his hand to me after that the air of "What Are the Wild Waves first meeting of ours when I was a Saying?" then very popular. And the lonely lad, nearly thirty years before. That time there was a dollar in it, and spurned it. This time I like to bedeve his heart was in it. And I took it gladly and gratefully. - Jacob A. THE LAND OF CHEESE.

Switzerland Has the Proud Honor of Deserving This Title.

Cheese, although an important product of our dairy farms and a reasonably popular article of diet in the United States, has never held quite the position with us given it in some European countries.

English and Germans are far greater consumers of cheese than we, while both are surpassed by Norwegians, But above all Switzerland is the land of cheese. On more than one occasion travelers have dwelt upon the functions, social and sentimental as well as astronomical, performed by the cheese of Zermatt-that remarkable cheese which is so hard that it has to be scraped with a knife or cleft with

It is said by one authority that the patrician rank of a Swiss family in that part of the confederation is estimated by the age of its cheese, and the greater the respect due to or the affection for a guest the older is the cheese set before him. There are said to be families who own cheese that dates back to the time of the first French revolution, which is served only on solemn occasions, such as hristenings, weddings or funerals.

There are in each pantry at least as many cheeses as there are boys and girls in the family, for at the birth of every child a cheese is made, which is named after the newcomer and is first cut into on his or her wedding day, on which festive occasion all guests partake of a piece of the groom's and the bride's cheeses in order to secure for them all earthly thrift and happiness. The rest is served as a token of friendy souvenir and heartfelt mourning after the tomb has closed over his or ber mundane career.-New York Trib-

In me there was no suspicion your 'air, sir; it looks unusual." Joe went to the glass and saw nothing remarkable, but as he was considering along in a way very unlike the usual his face Charles burst upon him with, springy step of the old chief. I hardly "Where on earth did you get your hair cut, my dear Joe?"

Joe could stand it no longer. He went off to his chambers in Rayhow older than I had ever seen him mond's buildings, Gray's inn. Next day he saw an advertisement in the Times: "J. M. L .- Say, who cut it? Was "Well," he said, "have you reformed it your own hand or the deed of aneverything to suit you, straightened other? Confess ere it be too late." It was only the first of a series of sim-"Pretty nearly," I said, falling into flar announcements, and the ingenuity his tone of banter, "all except the Sun of his tormentors devised continual office. That is left yet and as bad as surprises for him. On the day he went down to Chertsey races he saw "Ha?" he laughed. "You come on the walls placarded with enormous posters, yellow and black: "J. M. L -And with another hearty Once more, who cut it? You must speak!" A band of Ethlopian minstrels was furnished with a melody to sing outside Raymond's buildings to refrain was:

In despair, Langford went abroad, and when, at Chamonix, he climbed to the Cascade des l'elerius he found plastered in front of him a huge yellow poster bearing the words: "J. M. L.-Confess, reveal, or be forever lost! Who cut it?" Joe's spirit was broken. He sat down and wrote a humble letter to Albert Smith: "I yield. Spare me. My bair was cut in St. Martin's court at the barber's on the left hand side. His charge was threepence. I am quite beaten."

> > Her Opportunity.

In an old French joke book is a story to the effect that when at Rome public penances were customary a confessor thought fit to order that one of his female penitents should be flogged. She told her husband, and he volunteered to undergo the penance for her. The wife was present at the flogging, and whenever the confessor's energies flagged she would cry:

"Flog harder, father, for you know I'm a great sinner!"

Not a Scot.

From some unexplained cause the engine attached to a Scottish express once broke down near Y. A worthy quickly put his head out of the window and inquired:

"What on earth's wrang, gaird?" The guard was cross, for no records ould be broken that journey, and testily he replied: "Well, Scottle, the driver's a countryman of yours, and the beggar has used all the hot water in the boiler to mix grog with."

"Na, na, gaird, the chiel's nae a Scot," came the retort, "or he widna rouble muckle about the water."

He Got There.

A New England bishop was on his way one winter day to till an episcopal appointment in the lumber country when he ran into a old fashioned Maine blizzard. He had a dozen miles before him when it burst, and he was traveling in an old fashioned mountain stage drawn by two wiry horses. They fought about six miles bravely. and then it began to look hopeless. The driver and the bishop were won dering how they and the horses would live through the night when there came a whoop. In a few moments six husky lumberjacks mounted on six northern Maine borses came up to them through the swirl.

"Well, bishop," said the leader, "we was bound you should get through to that meeting if we could help you"

The good bishop was deeply touched at this show of religious zeal and tribute to him and his cause and so expressed himself.

"Yes," replied the man, "we'll get you through. You see, we was paid yesterday, and the boys has made up a thunderin' big pool on whether er not you'd git there. We boys has got a whole month's pay on your end. You'll git there."

He did, and he got half the pool for new schoolhouse.

What Did He Mean?

At a supper party shortly before the production at the Duke of York's theater in London of Henry Arthur Jones' play, "The Princess' Nose," some one said to the late Sir W. S. Gilbert across the table:

"What do you think of Jones' new title, Gilbert?" "Don't know what it is," growled

Sir William. "It is quaint to say the leasty" was the reply. "He calls his piece The Princess' Nose.'"
"H'm," grunted Gilbert meditatively;
"hope it will run."

EXPLOSION IMPRISONS MANY GERMAN MINERS

and Many of the Injured Rescued.

Bochum, Germany, Aug. 8 .- A mining disaster which imperiled the lives of 650 minors occurred in the Lorraine pit in the vicinity of the village of Gerthe to-day. Many of the men were rescued, but at a lace hour this evening it was feared that more than 10) had been killed.

Twenty-five bodies had been recovered and the rescue parties were unable to enter the gallery in which the fire damp explosion occurred, where it was believed from fifty to 100 men were still entombed and had almost certainly perished. A. large number of those rescued were suffering from severe injuries and it was expected that many of them could not recover.

The rescue detachments which did such good work at the time of the French disaster at Courrieres, near Lens, on March 10, 1906, when 1.230 miners were killed, arrived here early this afternoon, but were unable to penetrate the galleries, owing to the flames and the poisonous gases.

The wives and families of the doomed miners were gathered around the pit mouth all day, but were unable to learn any details, as the officials of the mine refused information, At 6 o'clock fifteen more bodies had been recovered, making the total known deaths at that hour

The day shift of 650 men had just descended into the workings and were distributing themselves along the various levels when the explosion occurred.

The detonation was heard at the surface and the officials on duty immediately formed rescue parties of the men belonging to the night shift, who rushed back to the pit mouth together with the villagers.

A LITTLE HISTORY OF THE HOUSE OF FREE RENT

For more than twenty years the three-story brick house at 26 East Bixth street, Covington, has been occupied by several families, and not one of the families has paid rent. All the occupants said Thurslay they would have paid the rent, but no one ever came and asked them for it, and likewise, no one ever asked them to move. When one man did move, he did so of his own volition, and then told friends to move in and take his quarters.

More than twenty years ago a friend of Edward Cooper, an expressman, of Covington, was told by a friend that he could move into the house and not have to pay rent. Cooper did so, and reared his family there. He did not occupy the whole house, and he invited another family to share it with him. Two years ago he invited the family of Char'es Shumate to move into the house, rent free, provided they Later, Cooper's family having left. e moved into one room, and Mrs. Shumate invited her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shumate, to occupy part of the second floor. Cooper later moved out, and the latter family now occupy he entire second floor. Mrs. Mattie Kordenbrook and family of five chi'dren occupy the third floor.

"No one ever said anything about rent to us," said Mrs. Shumate Thursday. "About two years ero I saw an advertisement that the house was to be sold by the city for lelinquent toxos, giving the owner's name as De'ehay, and his residence as Danville, Ky. I do not know whether the house was sold, but no one came to see us about it."-[Covington Post.

His Quarter.

"I approach you in a worthy cause, Mr. Titewad. We want to "aise $100,000; a prominent philanthropist offers to contribute a quarter of it."

"Oh, well," said Mr. Titowad hastily, "I don't mind giving another quarter. Can you change a half?"--[Housekeeper.

HELPLESS CRIPPLE SUES FOR $25,000 DAMAGES

Backbone Was Broken By Accident in Mine-Negligence Charged.

Suit for the collection of $25,000 clamages has been filed in the Mc-Lean Circuit Court by the attorneys for Jesse K. Shacklett against the Memphis Mining Company, of Island, McLean county, the plaintiff claiming that he has been rendered a helpless cripple because of the gross carelessness and negligence on the part of the defendant company. The suit is filed by Richard Alexander, of Calhoun, and Ben D. Ringo and Lavega Clements, of Owensboro.

It is stated in the petition that the plaintiff was, in September, 1911, employed at the mine and was employed to mine coal and to do no other work. He says that he organized at ball team last Sunday. was assigned to work in a certain room, some distance down in the mine and some distance from the Pierson entry.
